

Dear Parents & Carers,

As we reach the end of the penultimate week of half term, we look forward to welcoming you into classrooms next week to speak to class teachers about the children's learning. It is a lovely part of the term as this is when teachers begin to display the fantastic outcomes from the children as class displays which the children can feel really proud of.

On Thursday, we had our annual Autumn Disco whereby children were able to have an enjoyable time with their friends, dancing to their favourite tunes.

Don't forget our next PTA run event will be the Christmas Fayre which is being held on Thursday 7th December. There will be further communication in the coming weeks as to how you can offer your support or donate.

Thank you to the parents that attended the workshop with out SENCO, Mrs Kutchesfahani on 'supporting your children with an autism diagnosis.' If you would like any further information on this workshop, please check the website for information or alternatively speak to the office about booking an appointment with Mrs Kutchesfahani.

It was lovely to see some of our younger children stepping out of school this week to visit the library in Eltham. They all had a wonderful time and were inspired by the variety of books on offer that they were able to read and look at. This is such an important step in becoming life-long readers.

As we look ahead to next week, we notice that the autumn weather maybe finally upon us with temperatures beginning to dip. Please ensure children come to school in appropriate winter footwear and a coat to wear at play-time. Please ensure all clothes are clearly labelled and that you do not send children to school wearing expensive items.

A reminder that school remains open next week for all children as per our term dates. Half term begins on Monday 23rd October.

Have a lovely weekend.
